FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS, AND RECOMMENDATION OF THE UNITED STATES MAGISTRATE JUDGE

Petitioner Kevin Ktari West, still an inmate at the Dallas County jail, was sentenced to three years of incarceration in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice (TDCJ) on January 6, 2020, after his community supervision was revoked and he was adjudged guilty of credit card abuse, fraud, and theft. See State v. West, Nos. F19-40152, -40171, -40289, -42140 (363d Jud. Dist. Ct., Dall. Cnty., Tex.); Dkt. No. 3 at 2-3.

West has now filed a pro se application for a writ of habeas corpus under 28 U.S.C. § 2254 seeking that time be credited to his three-year sentence. See generally Dkt. No. 3. Senior United States District Judge Sam R. Cummings referred West's habeas application to the undersigned United States magistrate judge for pretrial management under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b) and a standing order of reference. And, because West has failed to show that, before resorting to Section 2254 relief, he fully and properly exhausted his state remedies, the undersigned enters these findings of fact, conclusions of law, and recommendation that the Court should dismiss the habeas application under Rule 4 of the Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases (Habeas Rule 4) without prejudice to West’s right to fully and properly exhaust his state remedies.

“[S]tate courts play the leading role in assessing challenges to state sentences based on federal law.” Shinn v. Kayer, 141 S. Ct. 517, 526 (2020) (per curiam). A state petitioner must therefore fully exhaust state remedies before seeking federal habeas relief. See 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(1)(A); Loynachan v. Davis, 766 F. App’x 156, 159 (5th Cir. 2019) (“A federal court may not grant habeas relief unless the petitioner ‘has exhausted the remedies available in the courts of the State.’” (quoting 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(1)(A))).

This entails submitting the factual and legal basis of any claim to the highest available state court for review in a procedurally correct manner. See Satterwhite v. Lynaugh, 886 F.2d 90, 92-93 (5th Cir. 1989).¹

¹ See also Nickleson v. Stephens, 803 F.3d 748, 753 (5th Cir. 2015) (“The exhaustion doctrine demands more than allusions in state court to facts or legal issues that might be comprehended within a later federal habeas petition. The exhaustion doctrine is based on comity between state and federal courts, respect for the integrity of state court procedures, and ‘a desire to protect the state courts’ role in the enforcement of federal law.” (quoting Castille v. Peoples, 489 U.S. 346, 349 (1989) (quoting, in turn, Rose v. Lundy, 455 U.S. 509, 518 (1982)))); Loynachan, 766 F. App’x at 159 (“To determine whether a § 2254 petitioner has exhausted a claim, his federal claim should be compared with the claim he raised in state court ‘It is not enough that all the facts necessary to support the federal claim were before the state courts or that a somewhat similar state-law claim was made.’ ‘Rather, the petitioner must afford the state court a “fair opportunity to apply controlling legal principles to the facts bearing upon his constitutional claim.” This reflects the fact in the habeas system, state courts are provided the first opportunity to assess the claim.’ (citations omitted)).

Appeals (the CCA) in a petition for discretionary review or an application for state post-conviction relief. See Bautista v. McCotter, 793 F.2d 109, 110 (5th Cir. 1986). “A petitioner need merely press a claim through one of these avenues to exhaust that claim. [But, t]o exhaust a claim, it must also be presented in a procedural context in which state courts necessarily review the claim on the merits.” Loynachan, 766 F. App’x at 159 (citations omitted).

Under Habeas Rule 4, a district court may summarily dismiss a 28 U.S.C. § 2254 habeas application “if it plainly appears from the face of the petition and any exhibits annexed to it that the petitioner is not entitled to relief in the district court.” Id.

This rule differentiates habeas cases from other civil cases with respect to sua sponte consideration of affirmative defenses. The district court has the power under [Habeas] Rule 4 to examine and dismiss frivolous habeas petitions prior to any answer or other pleading by the state. This power is rooted in “the duty of the court to screen out frivolous applications and eliminate the burden that would be placed on the respondent by ordering an unnecessary answer.”

Kiser v. Johnson, 163 F.3d 326, 328 (5th Cir. 1999) (quoting 28 U.S.C. foll. § 2254 Rule 4 Advisory Committee Notes); see Rodriguez v. Dretke, No. 5:04-cv-28-C, 2004 WL 1119704, at *1 (N.D. Tex. May 17, 2004) (applying Habeas Rule 4 prior to the filing of an answer where this “Court [was] of the opinion that [the petitioner] has failed to exhaust his state court remedies” (citing Kiser)).²

Phillips*, 144 F.3d 348, 357 (5th Cir. 1998) (“[T]here is no doubt that a federal court may raise sua sponte a petitioner’s failure to exhaust state law remedies and apply that doctrine to bar federal litigation of petitioner’s claims until exhaustion is complete.” (citations omitted)); cf. Dispensa v. Lynaugh, 847 F.2d 211, 217 (5th Cir. 1988) (“This requirement, that a petitioner who seeks federal redress must first seek relief in state courts and thus exhaust his state

West fails to allege that he exhausted, in a procedurally correct manner, state remedies as to the challenge he now brings under Section 2254. He does indicate that he filed state habeas applications in all four cases on March 25, 2022. See Dkt. No. 3 at 4. And state court records available online indicate that, on April 12, 2022, the Dallas County District Attorney responded to the four state petitions, arguing that the CCA should dismiss the petitions because West failed to exhaust administrative remedies under Section 501.0081 of the Texas Government Code. See, e.g., Ex parte West, W19-40289W(A) (363d Jud. Dist. Ct., Dall. Cnty., Tex.); see also Hunt v. Thaler, Civ. A. No. H-13-1445, 2013 WL 2408129, at *1 (S.D. Tex. May 31, 2013) (“Under [Section 501.0081(b)], a prisoner cannot file a state application for a writ of habeas corpus regarding time credit until he has filed a challenge with the TDCJ administrative appeal system and has obtained a written decision regarding his claim or 180 days has elapsed without a decision since he filed his administrative challenge.” (citation omitted)); Williams v. Dretke, No. 4:03-cv-1270-A, 2004 WL 238058, at *3 (N.D. Tex. Feb. 9, 2004) (noting that an application dismissed by the CCA “on § 501.0081 grounds” “signifies that the state court did not consider the merits of [the] claims”; that “the state court was deprived a fair opportunity to consider the merits of [the] claims”; and that “the claims are unexhausted for purposes of federal habeas review” (citations and footnote omitted)).

In sum, the CCA has yet to consider on their merits the claims that West makes remedies, is not a jurisdictional prerequisite, but a prudential policy based on concerns for federalism.” (citations omitted)).

through the federal habeas application. West's Section 2254 application should therefore be dismissed without prejudice under Habeas Rule 4. See, e.g., Sam v. Louisiana, 409 F. App'x 758, 763 (5th Cir. 2011) (per curiam) ("A federal district court may not adjudicate a habeas petition unless all claims in the petition are exhausted." (citing Rhines v. Weber, 544 U.S. 269, 274 (2005))).

Recommendation and Directions to Clerk of Court

The Court should dismiss Petitioner Kevin Ktari West's application for a writ of habeas corpus under Rule 4 of the Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases without prejudice to his right to fully and properly exhaust state remedies. The Court should further direct that the Clerk of Court serve any order accepting or adopting this recommendation on the Texas Attorney General.

The Clerk of Court is DIRECTED to serve electronically a copy of this recommendation and the petition, along with any attachments thereto and brief in support thereof, on the Texas Attorney General as counsel for Respondent, directed to the attention of Edward L. Marshall, Chief, Criminal Appeals Division, Texas Attorney General's Office. See RULE 4, RULES GOVERNING SECTION 2254 CASES IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURTS.

A copy of these findings, conclusions, and recommendation shall be served on all parties in the manner provided by law. Any party who objects to any part of these findings, conclusions, and recommendation must file specific written objections within 14 days after being served with a copy. See 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1); FED. R. CIV. P. 72(b). In order to be specific, an objection must identify the specific finding or recommendation to which objection is made, state the basis for the objection, and specify the place in the magistrate judge's findings, conclusions, and recommendation where the disputed determination is found. An objection that merely incorporates by reference or refers to the briefing before the magistrate judge is not specific. Failure to file specific written objections will bar the aggrieved party from appealing the factual findings and legal conclusions of the magistrate judge that are accepted or adopted by the district court, except upon grounds of plain error. See Douglass v. United Servs. Auto. Ass'n, 79 F.3d 1415, 1417 (5th Cir. 1996).
